SMITH ON A MISSION

The Prophet's Son Is Led by a Vision.

WILL VISIT THE SOUTHERN SEAS

Plans Spreading of His Branch of the Mormon Faith—A Visit Here.

Joseph Smith, son of the originator and first prophet of the Mormon faith, will shortly arrive in Hawaii upon a proselytizing expedition.

Dwelling in Independence, Missouri, the descendant of the Mormon leader has declared that in a vision vouchsafed to him during the latter days of last month, he was instructed to proceed with all due speed to the South Seas, taking in the Sandwich Islands on the way, and there labor in the field of conversion. Assured success of the mission was given by the heavenly visitant.

According to the history of the Mormon church, after the martyrdom of Joseph Smith, there was some dissatisfaction felt by Joseph, the younger, in not being appointed as the leader of the Mormon people in his father's place. He then to an extent severed himself from the regular body and, migrating, started a Church of Latter Day Saints whose creed contained several modifications from those originally propagated by the pilgrim elders from Illinois. The new sect does not seem hitherto to have achieved wide distinction, but in the light of the recent vision, the ambition to be a leader among his people may be granted to the present Joseph Smith. Whether the local settlement of Mormons will welcome the visitor as one of themselves and a veritable prophet, is an open question.

The date of his arrival will probably come close to that of Bishop Heber J. Grant, one of the high dignitaries of the original Mormon church at Salt Lake City. Bishop Grant, as previously announced last month, will make a short stay in Honolulu on his way to the establishment of a new see in Japan, that country being a fresh field for missions as far as the Mormon church is concerned.

The local church of Hawaii celebrated its jubilee in Honolulu last December, when the late George Q. Cannon and other elders of the faith visited the island to direct the services.

WILL SEEK NEW TALENT

The literary circle of the Kilohana Art League held a meeting last night at the residence of Justice W. F. Frear, Punahou, for the purpose of considering the literary work to be taken up during the ensuing year.

It was desired that there should be a full attendance, and invitations were sent out to about forty members of the club, requesting them to be present to discuss the plans suggested. However, only eleven responded to the invitation.

Mrs. Kinney, who has been re-elected chairman of the circle for the coming year, presided at the meeting, and what was lacking in number was made up in enthusiasm. Various plans were suggested and were debated at length. The work of the circle is complete in arrangements for the monthly meetings up to December, and the circle wished to formulate some plan by which stimulus and interest might be put into the literary work.

It was finally decided that, beginning with the December meeting, a new method should be adopted.

Mr. McClennan, on behalf of the club, is to advertise for contributions of verse, prose, song, essays, etc., from all those of literary tendencies, whether members of the club or not, and these contributions are to be read and criticized at the monthly meetings, the various contributions being grouped according to class—essays, poems, stories, reviews, etc., to alternate in the program and lend a pleasing variety of entertainment at each meeting. The advertising will be attended to immediately by Mr. McClennan, and the contributions are all to be in by the first of December.

Some debate and discussion was had upon the question of whether or not contributions from those not members of the club were to be accepted, but it was thought best to encourage the general literary talent, and that perhaps by the plan of advertising for general contributions, more persons might become interested and join the circle.

Several other matters were discussed at the meeting, but this was the only matter acted upon definitely. A pleasant social half hour over a dainty collation served by Mrs. Frear closed the meeting. Those present were Judge and Mrs. Frear, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. McClennan, Miss Euhler, Mrs. Dillingham, Mrs. Kinney and Miss Kinney.

Young Brothers' House Warming.

"Kuanalu" is the name of the Young Brothers' new home on lighthouse island. The house is now completed, and the brothers are established there. Last evening they gave a house-warming, and entertained over fifty guests on the little island near the mouth of the channel upon which the lighthouse stands. The launches belonging to the brothers carried the guests back and forth between the island and the boat landing. A merry time was had, and everything went off in the best style. Refreshments were served, and all were happy. The house was christened by vote. The ladies chose one name among them, while the gentlemen chose a name also. Then the two names had to stand trial by vote. "Kuanalu" was chosen, meaning reef.
